How it works

There's a relaxed, friendly atmosphere, with people coming and going throughout the session, and everyone is welcome. We meet in the Garden Room of North Bank - a light, airy room with windows overlooking the gardens. There is a large soft play area on the floor, where babies can lie and wriggle and enjoy the toys - and practise new skills like sitting and rolling. Accompanying adults can sit on the floor or on chairs - whatever is more comfortable. Hand-held baby carriers can be brought into the room, but please no outdoor wheels so that we can keep the floor dry, clean and not too cluttered.

There is a short session of songs and rhymes part-way through, but the rest of the time is informal for chatting and playing. There are displays of information about the local scene for parents and babies.

Buggies: If you don't have a buggy, come in up the steps to the glass doors and follow the signs.

The buggy park is on the patio at the back of the church, so you need to go through the car park to a metal gateway at the right end of the house, then follow the path round the house to the back. Once you have left the buggy, you can come in through the back door of the old house. Please remember to bring a rain cover if the weather looks uncertain - we do not have space indoors for buggies. If you like, you can bring a chain and lock the buggy to a bench. Do call in at the back door and ask if you need any help with buggy, bags and babies.

The drop-in baby weighing clinic with the Fortis Green Health Visitor team also takes place at North Bank, on Thursday afternoons throughout the year from 1.30 - 3.30pm. Families are welcome to stay to chat and play down in the coffee area of the church during that time, where refreshments are also available in the 'Weigh-in Café'.
